SECTION 1 – OVERVIEW

Definitions

- Letters of Commitment – Documentation showing specific commitment to active participation on the project. If the applicant is not a LWDB, then the applicant must submit from at least one Virginia LWDB to ensure the proposal will be successful. The commitment must entail a determination of WIOA participant eligibility and documentation/direct referral of active WIOA participation.
- Letters of Support – Documentation showing general support of a project.
- Outreach – The announcement of the provision of services to any population that might not otherwise have access to those services, including raising the awareness of existing services to under-served populations, and service referral through the use of social media, leaflets, newsletters, advertising stalls and displays, and dedicated events.
- Skilled trade – any occupation that requires a particular skill set, knowledge, or ability. Skilled trade jobs are usually hands-on jobs, but they can be any job that is a specialized craft that requires advanced training and education, but not from a 4-year college or university. Trade workers usually receive their education and training through apprenticeships, on-the-job training, specialized education programs, and/or vocational schools.
- WIOA – The Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act.

A. Purpose

The Virginia Secretary of Labor announces the availability of up to $250,000 in the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) Title I Governor’s set-aside funds. These funds will be available through a competitive award process.

The intent of these funds is to increase the number and quality of outreach programs used by local workforce boards and other organizations to connect high school students to skilled trade areas available in Virginia. These outreach activities should directly support Virginia businesses seeking to tap into this pipeline of interested student/applicants. The best outreach programs will inspire, engage, and inform students and provide showcases that demonstrate cutting edge technology and skills used in business production shops across the Commonwealth.

This funding opportunity is supported by a federal U. S. Department of Labor Employment and Training Administration WIOA Title I award (AA 36350 21 55 A51) made to the Virginia Community College System (VCCS) as the pass-through entity. Matching funds are required to finance this project.

B. Background/Statement of Needs

When it comes to designing outreach programs for students grades 8-12 who may be interested in skilled trade areas, it is very important to remember that curiosity, creativity, and a desire to understand the world around us are traits that come naturally to high school youth. These traits also happen to be great attributes for skilled professionals that often possess science, technology, engineering, and mechanical aptitude. Learning technical content and developing skills are crucial components of success, and when this learning is tangible and connected to the real world, the impacts can be profound.

Marketing specialists for skilled trades in Virginia are keenly aware that work-based learning comprises experiences related to students' career interests and typically involves partnership with local businesses or organizations. Moreover, work-based learning promotes career awareness, career exploration, and career preparation which are key elements in CTE high school education curricula.

Career awareness or outreach activities prepare students for work-based learning experiences. These activities increase student awareness of personal interests and talents along with the education and training needed to pursue a career goal. Examples of career awareness activities include guest speakers, career days, career fairs, field trips, workplace tours, and videos or presentations about various skilled trades.

Overall, VCCS is hoping to receive robust outreach program designs that incorporate innovative mechanisms that will engage and inspire high school students to pursue education, training, and careers in the skilled trades. Preferred outreach program designs are those that show high school students the many ways that a career in the skilled trades is attractive and quite rewarding. These jobs require employees to engage in teamwork and problem-solving, while demonstrating creativity and leadership. Moreover, careers in the skilled trades provide individuals with sustainable wages and benefits and job security.

C. Funding Availability & Source

A total of $250,000 is available to fund grants through a competitive awarding process, with a maximum award of $25,000 to single applicant.

Cost-reimbursable subawards will be issued by the VCCS, serving as the WIOA Title I Administrative agency for the Commonwealth, to LWDBs in the form of Notices of Obligation (NOO) to grant recipients who will serve as subrecipients. A Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) will be issued to non-LWDBs organizations who may serve as subrecipients.

Funding requests should be commensurate with the scope and scale of the project proposed. Awards may be issued contingent on the receipt and approval of additional work plan details. Funds may be obligated to the recipient on an incremental basis contingent upon the achievement of work plan milestones to be determined and included in award issuance.

All applicants must provide a match of 50% of the requested budget award, either in cash or in-kind to qualify for funding. Applicant matches may be provided with federal, state, or other funds. Applicants must describe the plan for matching funds (in-cash or in-kind) including the sources of those funds. All in-kind valuation must be included. For example, in-kind contributions from personnel must describe how the valuation is determined (for example, percent of time at rate of pay).
